WHEEL OF POWER FOR N. W. POWER

Warrior's Attributes

DEVELOPING THE NW POWER THROUGH THE USE OF THE WARRIOR'S ATTRIBUTES

- South: Compassion: Set an inner intent to engage with self, life and others with a more intimate level and express this through your attitude and approach to self, life and others. Do you experience a greater sense of balance and control over yourself, your life, and with others? What are your closed symbols around intimacy? How do you define intimacy? What is your relationship to nature?
- West: Forgiveness: How do you need to change pattern in order to engage with self, life and others on a more pleasurable, body knowing level? Forgiveness is about discovering your bad habits, accepting the presence of that habit, and taking charge to change the habit. Set an internal intent to mix up your timing schedule with life and therefore alter your patterns. Actively engage with life on a more aggressive basis to discover your true spirit self. Challenge yourself to go beyond your self perceived limitations. How does this affect your strength and power? Can you use forgiveness to create a space in self, life and others for positive change to manifest a new direction?

North: Mercy: Relax and focus on the moment. There are no ordinary moments. Can you see and feel Mah-Kuh-Ney? Watch for the spaces between the chaos and step inside with the full intent to change pattern and obtain a new perspective on coordination. Take charge of the energy instead of becoming at the effect of the energy. Move the energy towards the Light with full confidence in your ability to do so. Become the mirror for others without trying to do so. Step into maximum efficiency with minimum effort and see how the energy present needs to express itself. When you can accomplish this, you will be a walking testament to Mercy.

East: Grace: You set an internal attitude and approach through the acceptance of your true spirit personality as manifest in the tonal and the naqual. This acceptance allows you to express yourself through relaxation and focus. You are able to accomplish things without the resources you have had to rely upon in the past. The warrior's aspect of Responsibility of Harmony becomes clear and present. There is no presence of the Karmic Ego that has driven you in the past to gain acknowledgment, acceptance, and love from others. You are totally outside of the personality and events of the petty entertainment games of others and operating with the ease and beauty of and inside the Grace of the Creator.

Center: Love: How we express our shining to self, life & others. The connecting link to Intent. Walking the Law!!!

HOW TO WORK A WHEEL: If you are working a particular direction, you use the opposite direction as a mirror of reflection. (ie: You want to understand the NW -- Timing and Pattern better. You look across the wheel to Attitude and Approach and do a self analysis of how your Attitude and Approach to self, life and others affects your timing and patterns of the life experience. When you are working the NW, you are standing in that direction and looking into the center. This means that the direction on your left (North--Coordination / Intent is your feminine impact. That means that this is your receptive energy. How does your coordination and intent of your internal energy management impact your timing / pattern? The direction to your right is your masculine energy expression. How do your choice of timing and patterns affect your strength and power? Are you too timid or too assertive? What patterns do you need to change to improve your strength and power and become more receptive to your coordination and intent? Remember that the non-cardinal points move energy and the cardinal points stabilize energy.

Working the NW Wheel of Power with the Warrior's Attributes:

To get a better understanding of the NW Wheel of Power and how to manifest your Magical Self, pick a non-cardinal direction and stand in that direction. Use the information above to examine how you run your masculine and feminine energy on the NW Wheel of Power.

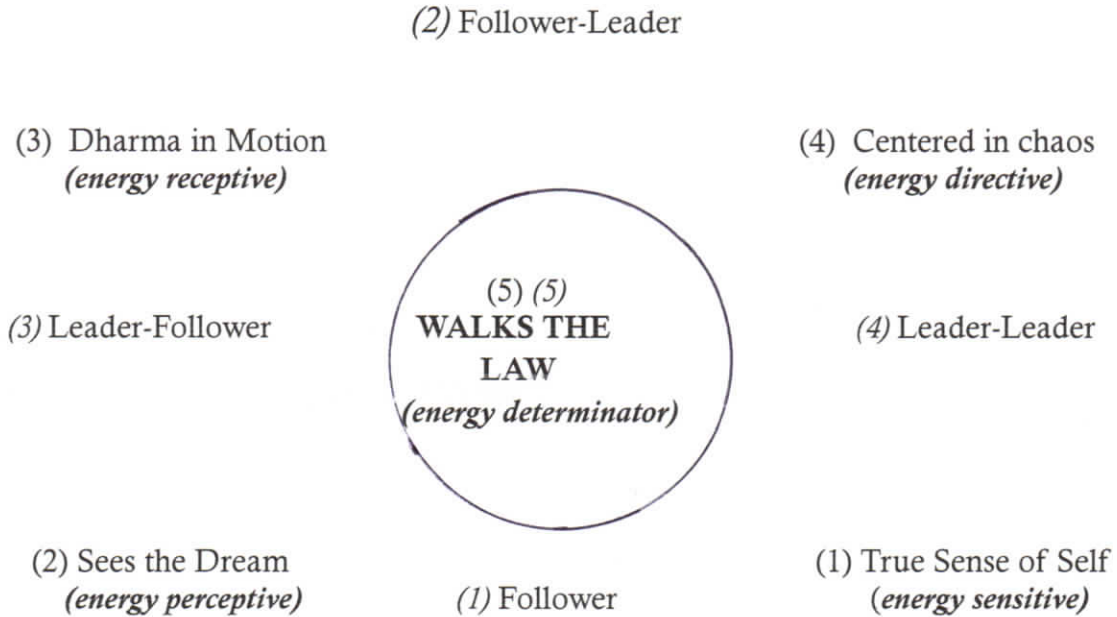

Using the NW as an example: By incorporating a deeper integration of Mercy towards self, life and others, how would this impact your ability to exercise forgiveness? What does this do to your timing and patterns? How about your Attitude and Approach? The 3rd enemy of the human, power, sits in the NW. How does this energy expression affect your relationship with power? Why is power an enemy?

FOUR ENEMIES OF HUMAN/ASPECTS OF BEING A WARRIOR

Magical Self: You become a determinator of energy via the benevolent leadership wheel within the seven levels of love: self, life, others, community, planet, universe, Creator. You no longer entertain yourself and others with personality and events. There is no other agenda than expressing love in the moment by bringing spirit into substance in the truest sense. In this way you become the MAT for all 5 worlds of GME and therefore become a catalysis for change. You lead with your energy presence instead of follow with your rationalizations and explanations. Your "A point" achieves a steady station in No Pity or below. You are able to hold the space of pure love without any need to surrender any portion of your power to others. In this way your heart becomes the center of your universe and you move naturally with the ebb and flow of the Sacred Mind of the Creator.

- (1) FOCUS
- (2) SUBSTANCE
- (3) FORM
- (4) DETERMINATION
- (5) UNDERSTANDING
- (6) IMAGINATION
- (7) FREEDOM
- (8) PATTERN
- (9) CHAOS
- (10) COMPLETION

The Benevolent Leadership Wheel is a form of energy management designed to bring stability and evolution to a Wheel of Power through the refinement of the 7th Sacred Law of "Absolute Individualism". When a Wheel of Power incorporates the cultural maze of personality and events, a battle of egos replaces the natural flow of spirit personalities operating within The Flow of GME within Sacred Law. This conflicting/chaotic energy interferes with the PURPOSE OF A WHEEL OF POWER: to bring spirit into substance!!!

movement of Resurrection. You can slip into the spaces between the chaos and use the Mah-Kuh-Ney force to conquer Death and Old Age. You are completely relaxed and focused in the moment and totally confident of your ability to direct energy in any direction at will and with completion of your full intent. This is the space wherein the Tenant lives.

The fifth movement is into the center wherein you have managed to not only direct energy, but to also create energy. You Walk the Law and therefore you are able to source the Source. This is the place of saints, angels, and archangels. You have fully developed your Magical Self and have become Love manifest. One moment flows into the next and you are able to traverse many levels of many dimensions simultaneously. Love rises to the surface and encompasses all that there is and ever will be. The energy of joy and fulfillment goes beyond man's present state of potential imaginative understanding and takes the human into the realm of true divinity on a constant and consistent level. The Dream is realized.

THE MAGICAL MOVEMENT WHEEL
7TH LAW WHEEL "ABSOLUTE INDIVIDUALISM"

 NW WHEEL OF POWER SYMBOLS

Since the NW Wheel is about changing timing and pattern to incorporate the beauty of the balanced human within the matrix of the Creator's design for GME, this wheel is charged with the responsibility of establishing this energy management within itself. As a seed of the Great Spirit's Free Will to know itself and evolve, the NW Wheel is charged with the responsibility of refining energy management to better set an example for future generations of humans by establishing energy matrixes upon GME that will impact the future collective unconscious mind of mankind. This is the function of the earthly messengers of The Divine Order of Melchizedek who periodically come to GME to assist mankind in its evolution.

Walking the Benevolent Leadership Wheel begins in the SE where we concentrate on developing the "energy sensitive" aspect of our energy management. This is an ever evolving aspect of the human condition. Lately we have evolved away from being energy sensitive and have concentrated on material well being versus spiritual well being. The task of bringing spirit into substance becomes almost impossible in this non-energy sensitive state of being. Now we must begin the long road back to becoming more energy sensitive to our environment in order to overcome the 1st Enemy of the Human: Fear.

The next step is to refine our ability to become energy perceptive. As the enemy of fear dissipates, we are able to use our new found ability of energy sensitivity to perceive more and different levels of energy in our environment. In this way we are able to defeat the 2nd enemy of the human: Clarity. Perceiving energy allows you to see more clearly the limitations you have attached to yourself in order to define yourself to yourself, life and others. That which seemed so clear in the past is now not seen as being so clear to you. In this way you are able to open closed symbols and engage with self, life and others on a more intimate level. As new spaces within you open up, you are able to expand into higher degrees of energy perception.

The third movement is to become more energy receptive. You step out of the Karmic cycles of repeating the same mistakes lifetime after lifetime and this opens spaces within you to receive more energy presence. As you receive this energy into your luminosity, you are able to expand into spaces that were previously closed to you...or that you had closed yourself off from. You are now taking the form of your true spirit personality and actually bringing spirit into substance. You no longer serve to accumulate power (3rd enemy of the human) because you have expanded beyond the Karmic Ego's need to have needs, wants and desires. The Dharma Ego's level of satisfaction and fulfillment comes not from accumulating power, but from sharing power. By sharing power, you constantly and consistently are able to create new spaces within yourself that allows you to experience love on a deeper and more meaningful level.

The fourth movement (the determination movement) is the ability to have such a highly refined level of energy management that you can stay centered in the mist of any chaos. You fully recognize and embody the Mah-Kuh-Ney and can direct energy where it needs to go to achieve the highest possible effect in the moment. The highest level of refinement of this aspect of this wheel is the
